Saint Theodore Guerin

Mother Theodore Guerin grew up in France. As a young child she always wanted to be close to God.

As an adult this saint joined a religious order of women, called the Sisters of Providence. She was a teacher and cared for the sick and the poor. She was asked to travel from her home in France to America to help teach people there about God. She opened many schools in America.

If you were asked to travel far from your home to teach others about God, what would you bring with you? Draw or write what you would pack in your suitcase.
